

Short Curriculum Vitae – FEDERICO NASSIVERA

Federico Nassivera is an Associate Professor of Agricultural Economics and Appraisal, PhD in Economics, Ecology and Preservation of Agricultural and Landscape-Environmental Systems at University of Udine, at the Department of Agricultural, Food, Environmental and Animal Sciences (DI4A) of University of Udine. He is author and co-author of several publications on national and international journals, international conferences proceedings and books in his main areas of research that include agro-food marketing, consumer behavior and management of agro-industrial firms. He is an Agronomist and he is a member of the SIDEA (Society of Italian Agro-economists).